

Order To Register Teen-age

Three Periods For Those Who Became 18 Last Half Of Year

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—(AP)—President Roosevelt fixed three separate registration periods today for youths who have reached or will reach their 18th birthdays in the last half of this year.

By proclamation, he set the week beginning December 11 and ending December 17 for draft registration of those who became 18 in July and August.

Young men who reached that age in September and October will register in the following week and those who became 18 in November and December will register in the week starting December 26 and closing December 31.

Mr. Roosevelt also provided for continuous registration on their birthdays of youths who become 18 on or after next January 1. If the birthday falls on a Sunday or holiday, they must register the next day.

Order Of Age
The 18 and 19-year-olds who registered last June 30 are to be called for induction in the order of their birth dates so far as practicable, with the oldest called first, it was announced today in instructions from Brig. Gen. Lewis B. Sershey to local boards covering provisions of the new draft act.

Hershey's instructions also defined more precisely which school boys in the 18-19 year old group may, by applying in writing, obtain postponement of induction until the end of the school year in the spring.

Local boards were told that the induction postponements could be granted to boys in "any institution giving the usual courses of study in the 9th, 10th, 11th, or 12th grades of education and applies only to those grades in such schools."

"The intent of the law is to include only the courses of study of the usual high school level work and not to include elementary or grammar school level work and university or college level work."

Sixth Registration
This will be the sixth draft registration. The last, on June 30, covered young men who already were 18 or 19 and those who had become 20 since the preceding

Predicts War Work For Children

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 18.—(P)—If the war lasts until 1945—Dr. Evan Davies of London, England, consultant to Great Britain's committee for post war reconstruction, predicts 75 per cent of the United States children between 14 and 18 will be working in war factories.

Speaking to the St. Louis chapter of the Missouri Association for social welfare yesterday, Davies said that was the approximate percentage of similarly aged British children thus engaged.

Sentence Slayer November 28

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 18.—(P)—Sentence of Mrs. Rosemary James Dupre, 42-year-old confessed slayer of her paramour, George Mills, will be passed Nov. 28. Circuit Judge Brown Harris decided after an advisory jury yesterday recommended a two-year prison term.

The former beauty operator told jurors a story of months of abuse and brutality she said she had suffered at the hands of the man she shot.

Judge Harris had begun the hearing without a jury but called one to consider the evidence before passing sentence.

Appeal Is Made For Voluntary Auxiliary Firemen

John Lueck, fire chief and William Middleton, assistant fire chief, are making an appeal to the men of the community to volunteer their services for auxiliary firemen to serve in the event of a war emergency.

Because of the large number of men called into the service or to defense plants, many of the trained auxiliary force have been compelled to leave the city. This leaves the local force much smaller than it should be, and they are asking men of all ages to offer their services.

Men who are willing to serve are asked to report to the fire chief at 7:30 o'clock Friday night.

OCD Adopts Block Plan For War Service

Chairman Appoints New Committees And Board Members

An important meeting of the Pettis County Defense Council was held Tuesday evening. There was a full attendance and the chairman, Julian H. Bagby, presided.

The council adopted the Block Plan of organization for civilian war service. This assures total coverage of all households for civilian war services. Civilian war services are all those civilian activities, other than protection with which communities and individuals must be concerned as part of their contribution to the prosecution of the war. They include salvage, transportation, war savings, services for men, recreation, consumer interests, nutrition, health and medical care, welfare and child care, housing, education, agriculture, labor supply and training, and plant utilization.

As the name suggests, the block plan is set up on a geographic basis. In communities which have a well-organized air raid warden service, the block plan follows the same area patterns, to avoid confusion. In rural areas, the neighborhood leader plan will be related to the defense council in the block set-up.

The council members discussed at length the preliminary plans for the blackout of December 14, which will extend over several states. The public will be advised within the near future on the precautions to be taken, and how the defense organization will function in this community.

Less Christmas Lighting
It is also the request of the local defense council that the citizens of Sedalia and Pettis county disband the use of unnecessary and potentially dangerous types of decorative lighting of homes and streets at the Christmas period. This position is taken because of

Cline Cain Is Lions President

Moving up from vice-president, Cline Cain assumed the office of president of the Sedalia Lions club today at the noon meeting of the organization at Hildebrandt's cafe, filling the unexpired term of M. L. Cooper who has moved from Sedalia to Pittsburg, Kas.

Most interesting part of the meeting was the reading of letters from three members in service in response to letters written them by the club. The letters were from Lieut. Ellsworth Green, Fort Morgan, Colo.; Privates Albert Zurcher, Stoneman Camp, Calif.; and Private Sam Highleyman, St. Petersburg, Fla.

The business session was devoted to a discussion of plans for meetings in the coming months.

Celebration For 'Women At War Week'

'Thanks For America' Program At High School

The retail merchants division of the Chamber of Commerce and the women's division of the War Savings Staff are combining forces to promote "Women at War Week" November 22 to 28, hoping to make this "week" the biggest war bond and stamp selling week since Pearl Harbor, according to J. L. Rosenthal, director in charge of the retail merchant's division.

"Women at War Week" will be stimulated by an evening of entertainment entitled "Thanks for America" to be held Tuesday, November 24, at 8 o'clock at Smith-Cotton high school under the direction of Mrs. E. F. Yancey and Mrs. Frank Leach. Various local musical groups will participate. The evening will be accented with the initial appearance in the state of Missouri of war bond and stamp "Minute Maids" under the sponsorship of the women's division for the sale of war bonds and stamps in Pettis county, of which Mrs. C. A. Wright is chairman.

There will not be any solicitation of funds, nor solicitation of the audience for the purchase of war bonds and war stamps. The only sale of war bonds and stamps will be in the "Minute Maids" booth.

This morning a special meeting was held at the Chamber of Commerce office for the purpose of discussing plans for the "Women at War Week" program. Those present were: Frank W. Hays, chairman of the Pettis County War Savings committee; Tom Yount, vice-chairman of the committee; R. M. Bates, chairman of the retail merchants division of the Chamber of Commerce; Mrs. C. A. Wright, chairman of the women's division of the War Savings committee; and Mrs. J. C. Griffin, chairman of the War Savings Censorship committee.

Admits Thefts From Automobiles

Bob Piper of North Grand avenue, arrested by the police on Tuesday night, today was charged with petit larceny in connection with the loss of a small camera and a pair of $10 roller skates out of a car belonging to Mrs. Grace Sedgewick, 601 West Fourth street, that night. The car was parked near Main street and Grand avenue.

Piper admitted taking the articles, and told police he entered another car and took a leather case out of it and dropped it in the car of Mrs. Sedgewick. The case contained several United States war saving bonds, and a war savings stamp book. The bonds totaled $525 and have the name of Willard Eubank, of Long Beach, California, on them. The roller skates belonged to Mrs. William Rhinehart of 611 West Sixteenth street and the camera to Mrs. Sedgewick.

Piper will be taken before Judge C. W. Bente, sitting at ex-officio justice of the peace. The date for his hearing has not been set.

Industrialist Makes Fight For His Health

Made And Lost Several Fortunes During Career

By David J. Wilkie

FLINT, Mich., Nov. 18.—(P)—In Hurley hospital here one of the most amazing figures in American financial and industrial history whom the severest kind of reverses could not discourage is making another heroic comeback effort.

He is William Crapo Durant, founder and twice head of General Motors and sensational Wall Street operator two decades ago. Durant, approaching his 81st birthday anniversary, recently suffered a stroke. Recovering, he entered the hospital for a major operation. Physicians attending him say he is coming through it nicely.

The one-time financial genius who possessed a fortune estimated at $120,000,000 in the 1920's and who said he once "controlled the stock market for two years without ever selling a share of stock short" still is something of an enigma to his acquaintances.

Few know his exact financial condition; at least a part of his income is derived from a bowling alley project on Flint's north side where a considerable part of the city's industrial population have their homes and jobs.

Laughed At His Predictions
Durant, who began his industrial career as a manufacturer of buggies and wagons, got into the automobile industry in 1905 and was roundly laughed at for predicting that car makers some day would produce and sell 1,000,000 vehicles a year.

His dreams of complete mastery of the motorcar industry cost him several fortunes. Always on the

Kansas Army Plane Crashes Near Santa Fe

SALINA, Kas., Nov. 18.—(P)—An army plane on a routine training flight from the Smoky Hill air base field at Salina was discovered today to have crashed against the side of Baldy Peak 70 miles north of Las Vegas, N. M.

A statement issued by Col. William A. Cahill, commanding officer of the Salina base, said that no ground party has reached the scene of the accident but that some signs of activity are visible from the air.

No other details were given.

Americans Tell Story Of Air Battle

Shelled Shocked Fortress Comes Safely Back Home

LONDON, Nov. 18.—(P)—Here's the rousing story of eight scrapping Americans who fought off 30 of the Germans' best planes, downed four to eight of them and brought their flying fortress home with a wingtip rolled up "like a sardine can," an engine dead and rudder controls half frozen.

Major General Carl Spaatz, commander of American air forces in the European theater, disclosed the feat today, adding another chapter to the story that American men and machines are writing over Europe.

The fortress had completed a bombing assignment over Lille, France, its fourth mission over the continent, and was headed home when a formation of 30 Focke Wulf-190's jumped the flight, quickly knocking this plane out of the bomber formation and making it an especially attractive target.

"When they put a bullet through our No. 1 propeller and knocked us out of formation I knew we were in trouble," said Lieut. Robert L. Riordan, the pilot, of Houston, Tex.

Ready To Bail Out

Registration will be held in all rural schools from 9 o'clock in the morning until 4 o'clock in the afternoon on Friday.

Car owners are again reminded to have their 1942 Missouri automobile registration slip or title, also the number of their federal stamp. Those who use kerosene for cooking, lights or heating should have their blanks on file at the Rationing Board on or before November 23.

Allied Commander Satisfied With a 'Very Good Start'; British Pursuing Rommel

Warn Rommel Is Groggy But Not Yet Knocked Out, And Will Hang On

The War News

Streamlined

CAIRO, Nov. 18.—(AP)—Gen. Sir Harold Alexander, commander of British forces in the Middle East, said today that only 15 of 500 axis tanks in Egypt escaped destruction or capture by the British Eighth Army, but he predicted that Field Marshal Rommel's shattered forces would make a stand near El Agheila, Libya.

Rommel, he said, is doing his utmost to hang on in Tripolitania and Tunisia but "I don't think he can make a long stand unless reinforced."

"I don't think his present army can stand for long," the general said.

As Alexander spoke, the British Eighth Army was within 70 miles of Bengasi and pursuing Rommel on a wide front, the Cairo communique reported.

The British commander said Rommel had "strong prepared defensive positions" in the El Agheila area and was "most likely to make a temporary stand" there.

"Of 500 axis tanks estimated to have been in the battle area only 15 escaped," Gen. Alexander said.

Not Out Yet

He warned that there may be further heavy fighting in North Africa and said "the enemy is groggy, but not knocked out."

"The battle will not be ours until the enemy is lying senseless," he declared. "He is a good fighter and will keep up his rearguard action in an effort to hold us back as long as there is a possibility of his getting reinforcements by air and sea."

Alexander said the American Sherman tank is "grand and as good as any on the battlefield—our troops love it."

Referring to Rommel, although he did not use his name, Alexander said:

"He will hang on. He always does. He's a good fighter, that fellow. He's trying to hang on and reorganize."

"When he gets to Tripoli and finds it too costly then he may attempt to get out—a sort of Dunkerque."

Cautious In Remarks

The slender, alert commander in chief, unbent and handsome in his battle dress, exuded optimism but tempered it with caution. The present British and Allied problem is one chiefly of supply as the Libyan chase extends to the

Mail Christmas Packages Early

Postoffices will make every effort to handle the Christmas mail this year without congestion and delay, but owing to the enormous volume this can be done only with the co-operation of the public, the Postoffice Department points out. During the holiday period the volume of mail increases approximately 200 per cent.

Edward P. Mullaley, Sedalia postmaster, asks co-operation in early mailing and care in wrapping packages.

Gifts, greetings and letters should be mailed at least 20 or 25 days before Christmas, according to the distance to be transported.

Wrap parcels securely, using strong paper and heavy twine, but do not seal them except when bearing a printed label or endorsement, reading: "Contents, merchandise—Postmaster: This parcel may be opened for postal inspection if necessary," together with name and address of sender, as sealed parcels not so labeled or endorsed are subject to postage at the letter rate. The name and address of the sender may be handwritten or typewritten on the labels.

Germans Reported Massing Forces In Attempt To Defend Bizerte Naval Base

LONDON, Nov. 18.—The Germans boasted today that they were established and ready to fight for the important Tunisian naval base of Bizerte against a powerful allied force whose advance guard was already deep in Tunisia, where British paratroopers had landed at key airdromes and American paratroopers were poised on the frontier.

(The British radio said Lieut. Gen. Kenneth A. N. Anderson, commander of the British First Army, had declared himself satisfied with a "very good start" by his forces—which include an American column—in their eastward thrust from Algeria. The broadcast was heard in New York by CBS.)

The Tunis radio went off the air after giving the explanation Monday morning that its silence was intended to save power, and this suggested a possibility that parachute operations might even have been brought close to the Tunisian capital which the axis had announced was in its hands.

Using the Nazi-controlled Paris radio as their mouthpiece, the Germans announced today that they had captured Bizerte and established themselves firmly there. The broadcast said nothing of Tunis, whose occupation along with Bizerte had been reported in axis communiques two days ago. And the use of the word captured seemed to refute the Nazi propaganda line that they moved in "to defend their French compatriots in Tunisia," and met only co-operation from the French.

Allies Closing In

The Germans, squeezed into a 820-mile strip of North African coast with allied armies closing in on either side, chose to regard the occupation of Bizerte as a victory. "Following the occupation of Bizerte, the initiative now is in the hands of the Germans and Italians in Tunisia," one German broadcast said.

British paratroopers were taken to their Tunisian airdrome objectives in American transport planes escorted by fighters. Reuters said some of the paratroopers landed "close to an important key town in Tunisia," but none of the reports identified the positions seized.

American paratroopers—the men who helped take the Algerian naval base at Oran—were said to have landed in a swift operation at an Algerian airfield near the Tunisian border.

The German-controlled Paris radio described the Nazi-held Bizerte naval base as "very well fortified."

Berlin Reports Conflicting

In one broadcast it said Berlin military circles declared that no actual fighting had occurred between axis and British-American forces moving into the French protectorate. In another, it reported a clash between allied troops and French colonials in south Tunisia.

Allied sources were silent on the progress of the advance into Tunisia, but there was nothing to indicate that opposition had been encountered from the French, who instead were said to have resisted axis occupation of Tunis and Bizerte with what force was at their command.

In Algeria and Morocco the French, administering their own civil affairs, were co-operating closely with Lieut. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's military command.

"Fight And Work" To Win War
President Says It Seems That "Turning Point" Has Been Reached
By RICHARD L. TURNER
WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—(AP)—President Roosevelt Tuesday night hailed American successes in Africa and the far Pacific as an apparent "turning point of this war," but added a warning that there was time only for working and fighting, none for exultation.
Earlier he had described the recent battle in the Solomon islands as a major victory for the allied cause. Tonight, addressing the Herald-Tribune forum by radio, he singled out one participant in that battle for a hero's praise—Rear Admiral Daniel J. Callaghan.
Admiral Callaghan, before he was killed in action, sailed his cruiser, the San Francisco, directly into the guns of the Japanese armada and spread devastation among it, the President revealed. The San Francisco, still afloat, has been recommended for decoration for outstanding service, the first ship of the war to be so honored.
In addition to these things, Mr. Roosevelt stoutly defended the administration's policy of withholding news of naval losses until it is clear that the enemy already has possession of the information and indicated that long-range social reforms have been shelved for the time being.
Fight And Work To Win
"In time of peace," he said, "every variety of problem and issue is an interesting subject for public discussion. But in time of war the American people know that the one all-important job before them is fighting and working to win."
"Therefore, of necessity, while long-range social and economic problems are by no means forgotten, they are a little like books which for the moment we have laid aside in order that we might get out the old atlas to learn the geography of the battle areas."
He said he had made "a constant effort as commander-in-chief to keep politics out of this war." However, he added, his "foot slipped once."
Ten days before election day, an American aircraft carrier was torpedoed in the Pacific. No enemy vessels or planes were in the vicinity, when she sank some time later. No one knew whether the Japanese were aware that she had gone down. Such information, he said, has a definite bearing on future battle plans.
"We, for instance," he said, "know that we have sunk a number of Japanese aircraft carriers and we know that we have bombed or torpedoed others. We would give a king's ransom to know whether the latter were sunk or were saved, repaired and put back into commission."
Yields To 'Clamor'
At the time the American carrier was sunk, he continued, a clamor was being raised in the press and elsewhere against the suppression of news from the fighting fronts. Responsible authorities, he added, were of a divided opinion.
"Here came my mistake," Mr. Roosevelt continued. "I yielded to the clamor. I did so partly in realization of the certainty that if the news of the sinking were given out two or three weeks later it would be publicly charged that the news had been suppressed by me until after the election."
"Shortly thereafter protests came from the admirals in command in the southwest Pacific and at our great base in Hawaii on the grounds that, in all probability, the Japanese navy had no information of the sinking and that handing them the information on a silver platter—although we were careful not to reveal the name of this carrier—gave them a military advantage which they would otherwise not have had."
"This confession of mine illustrates to the people of this country the fact that in time of war the conduct of that war, with the aim of total victory, comes absolutely first. They know that not one of their inalienable rights is taken away through the failure to disclose to them, for a reasonable length of time, facts which Hitler and Mussolini and Tojo would give their eye teeth to learn. Facts therefore become paramount—facts that can not be told to the public at the time, as well as facts that can and should be told at all times.
"The posters that tell you, 'Loose Talk Costs Lives' do not exaggerate. Loose talk delays victory. Loose talk is the damp in the powder. We prefer to keep our powder dry."
Mr. Roosevelt said that "a gigantic job" lies ahead—with battle lines stretching from Kiska in the Aleutians to Murmansk, from Tunisia to Guadalcanal.
"The lines will grow longer as our forces advance," he said.
Then, noting that "it would seem that a turning point of this war has at least been reached," and adding his warning that there was time only for working and fighting, he swung into a description of Admiral Callaghan's exploit.

Selective Service Board In Prison
WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—(AP)—The first selective service board to be set up at a federal prison has been established at Lewisburg, Pa., a government official said Tuesday, with the prospect that boards may be established at other federal penal institutions.
James V. Bennett, federal prison director, long has advocated a more lenient policy toward prisoners to permit some of them to serve in the armed forces, and a law enacted last year which permits the secretary of war to use discretion in that regard. This has made it possible for men with only a single conviction—provided it does not involve a major offense such as treason, rape, murder or sex perversion—to be taken into the army.
An official who declined to be quoted by name explained that it was clearly intended that no one should be drafted directly from a prison and that only those believed fit for a return to society should be classified 1-A.

Chain Stores Group Dinner
Managers In Discussion Of Business Affairs
Fifteen members of the Sedalia Chain Store Managers Group met at a dinner at Kueck's Tuesday night with several guests and discussed problems of their particular businesses. During the evening James Franks, was elected chairman to succeed R. M. Bates, the chairman for the past year.
The meeting had been arranged by Earl Brown, of Columbia, managing director of the Missouri Chain Store Council, who presented two out of town speakers, Tom R. Douglass, of Columbia, agricultural relations counsel and Howard D. Harris, of Cincinnati, with the public relations department of one of the chain grocer stores.
T. H. Yount, vice-chairman of the Pettis County War Savings committee and Joseph L. Rosenthal, Chamber of Commerce director of the retail merchants division were also speakers.
Talk On Cooperation
Mr. Douglass spoke of the need for the chain store managers to inform the people of their local community of the large amount of buying that is really done in their own state, and also urge them to cooperate with farm people, particularly the 4-H club boys and girls and vocational students. These boys and girls, he said, are the coming leaders of your community.

Mr. Harris spoke of the cooperation between the chain store managers and the community, mentioning particularly the drives for funds. He suggested that when these drives are on the chain store managers be informed in time to contact their main offices and have permission to make their subscription, not two or three weeks after the drive has started, but at once. He also suggested that they talk over the amounts to be given, so that the stores might give comparable amounts to all drives.

They Call 'Em 'Gen. Sherman' Tanks Because They Taught Nazis That War Is Hell

"General Sherman"—the world's best tank.

By JAMES CULLINANE
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—The American-made M-4 tanks, which are helping to chase the battered German Afrika Korps westward into Libya, were affectionately nicknamed "General Sherman" by the British Eighth Army because they taught the Nazis that war is hell.

But new developments indicate that General Erwin Rommel and his Panzers still have a lot to learn about the hellishness of war. Because many more M-4 tanks—called the most terribly efficient land-fighting machines in the world—are with the American invasion forces in French Africa. And presumably they are leading the American column reported racing southeast into Italian Libya against the Axis army's rear.

CAN FIRE TO REAR
The General Sherman is at least two tons heavier than the 28-ton General Grant and General Lee tanks, which have been used in much greater numbers in the

"I SAT UP IN BED
trying to get a little sleep. Stomach upset. Since using ADLERIKA I feel so good! Am 64 years old and do my own work." (E. P. Okla.) If gas in stomach or intestines bothers YOU, try ADLERIKA today. McFarland and Robinson, druggists.

Egyptian desert fighting. But U. S. Army Ordnance officers here declare that in addition to its extra armor, the Sherman can outrun the two older types of tanks and the speed of the latter is better than 30 miles an hour.

Biggest advantage the General Sherman has over the General Grants and General Lees is the revolving turret which permits its high velocity cannon to swing with all-around traverse. The cannon on the General Grants are mounted on the right side with a traverse of only 30 degrees.

The General Grants, when their motors became disabled in battle, were virtually helpless from the rear. No German tank would dare approach a General Sherman from behind.

The high velocity 75-mm. cannon on the General Sherman and General Grant compares with the punch of the low velocity 75-mm. cannon on the German Mark IV and the 77-mm. cannon on the Mark V "like a punch in the belly by Joe Louis compares with a slap in the face from a 2-year-old child," according to an Ordnance officer here.

Tanks were coming off production lines at the rate of more than 1500 a month this summer when manufacturers were ordered to switch from the M-3 medium design to the M-4 medium. The switchover—a modern production miracle—was accomplished without the loss of a half hour on the production lines.

When the last M-3 rolled down the production line, an M-4 was right behind it.

M-4 PRODUCED FASTER
The welded and cast hulls of the M-4's greatly speeded up production. The M-3's, as all foreign-made tanks still are made today, were riveted. Reports spread that the rivets sheared off in battle and ricocheted around the inside of the tanks, killing or disabling the crews. Ordnance officers said this probably was an Axis-inspired rumor. Rivets inside the M-3 hulls are covered with armor plating.

Next to the M-4, U. S. Ordnance officers declare, the M-3 is the best medium tank in the world. Its cannon outrange German tank cannon by more than 700 yards. Its hulls are tougher and its motors more powerful than those of comparable German types.

Rommel's tanks have been in such headlong retreat in the current battle that no decisive conflict between the General Grants and the Mark 4's or Mark 5's has occurred. It is believed General Rommel has with him a number of American-made General Grant tanks which were repaired after 230 out of 300 of the British Eighth Army's tanks were knocked out last June.

EIGHTH ARMY HAS LOTS
But the Eighth Army is said to have sufficient new General Sherman tanks to outgun and outmaneuver the General Grants if the world's two best tanks ever come into conflict.

A United Press correspondent with the Rommel-chasing British 8th Army reports that a couple of General Sherman's rolled past German prisoners he was interviewing. One pointed to the tanks, clapped his hands to his forehead and exclaimed:

"We can't cope with this sort of thing! And now the Americans have landed in North Africa. Ach!"

Divorce Petition Filed
And Custody of Child Asked

A petition for divorce was filed in the circuit clerk's office Tuesday by Mrs. Mildred L. Hartman against Givert V. Hartman. The petition states the couple married September 21, 1939 and lived together until October 15, 1942. The plaintiff asks for the minor child, Givert V. Hartman, Jr., one and one-half years old and for $50 a month alimony and $12 a month for support of the child. General indignities were alleged. Frank W. Hayes is attorney for the plaintiff.

Full Results Of American Naval Victory To Come

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON

The full fruits of the great American naval victory in the far Pacific are yet to be revealed in Japanese military reaction to the blow but navy opinion that the foe must strike again at Guadalcanal, if only to save face, seems well justified.

Neither Japan, recoiling from a new defeat at American hands, nor Hitler, menaced by active second-front positions in north Africa, dare surrender the initiative. To do so would be to acknowledge failure of the axis dream of world conquest.

The Achilles heel of a philosophy of power politics, or rule by force or arms, is that its practitioners cannot stop. Aggression is their only watchword. To revert to a defensive role is to accept auguries of defeat.

Thus the next move is obviously up to Germany and Japan. Even so, there are certain unchallengable new war factors resulting from the staggering rebuff dealt Japanese power in the Solomons. They have a bearing on the war in Africa as well as the war in the Pacific.

Waiving the psychological by-product—which could prove vastly important—the factual and practical results achieved are highly encouraging. They lend a color of realism to allied hopes that the tide has definitely turned against the axis everywhere, that years may already be lopped off the probable duration of the war.

Of supreme importance even before the full score of the Solomons battle comes in is the cumulative attrition of Japanese sea power. On navy books a ratio of better than 4-to-1 has been established against Japan in ship losses since and including Pearl Harbor.

Devastation To Jap Ships
Unofficially the figures are set down at 365 Japanese craft of all types, combat and auxiliary, put out of action as against 85 American. That, too, despite the dispersion of American fleet units on other war business in the Atlantic, the Mediterranean and elsewhere. Sea power hangs no less on cargo than on combat tonnage. The unfavorable odds at sea for this country in the Pacific produced by two-front war are being whittled down relentlessly.

That must influence sea odds in other oceans. The Solomons victory was decisive enough to make it virtually certain that no American warcraft need be recalled from other seas to the Pacific. It is the Japanese not the American fleet that must grope desperately for replacements.

The absence of Japanese plane carriers from navy reports of enemy ships sunk or damaged is highly significant and unexplained. It seems obvious that Japanese air power losses must be even greater in proportion and more telling in effect than ship losses to date. Lack of scouting and attack planes may have been the key to the Japanese defeat.

The other aspect of the Solo-

Fort Benning, Ga. — The 124th Infantry set up a stone "wishing well" where soldiers may kneel and wish for anything from a furlough to a transfer to Africa—after they toss in a penny.

So far, 800 pennies have been taken from the well and used to buy goldfish for the place. Among the pennies were 35 slugs.

mons sea victory that strongly impresses this observer is the evidence it gives of coordinated and effective army-navy work. MacArthur's planes from Australia had much to do with the victory. Halsey's ships won off Guadalcanal.

American forces in the far Pacific may have learned cooperation in a hard school; but the proof is clear in that shattered Japanese armada that it has been learned.

History probably will trace the sea victory off Guadalcanal more to good scouting and combined staff work than to its individual genius shown by any officer in the fight, daring as Halsey's plan of battle was. That daring must have been founded on assembled and digested advance information of enemy dispositions to warrant the risk.

Plan Luncheon For Newcomers Will Be Held At Kueck's Tavern November 24

The Sedalia Chamber of Commerce Newcomers' dessert luncheon for November will be held Tuesday, November 24, at 1:30 o'clock at Kueck's according to the committee in charge. King, a transport instructor and pilot at the army air base and whose home is Obion, Tennessee, will preside.

Attractive gifts have been secured from the various Sedalia merchants for the occasion and an afternoon's entertainment is being planned by the committee. All Sedalia newcomers and Sedalia residents interested in this program are invited to attend the luncheon and reservations may be made by calling the Chamber of Commerce office not later than Monday. This is a civic enterprise to acquaint newcomers with the local townspeople and other newcomers, the various clubs and organizations, and to extend a general welcome to Sedalia.

Standing Committee Members of the standing committee who will call on newcomers for November are: Mrs. A. A. Studebaker, 1500 West Broadway, Mrs. L. R. Bailey, 500 South Carr, Mrs. G. E. Sublett, 1011 West Third street, and Mrs. Virgil Gilbert, 1012 West Fourth street.

Any individual, knowing of newcomers on whom they would like the committee to call, may assist by calling the Chamber of Commerce office and offering their name and address.

The Newcomers' club is under the supervision of the public relations division of the Chamber of Commerce of which Philip McLaughlin is director in charge and Ed Mulleay, chairman. Mrs. C. A. Wright is chairman of the Newcomers' club.

Warn Rommel Is Groggy But Not Yet Knocked Out And Will Hang On

Continued from page one. west, he remarked. "We have advanced 400 miles in a week, and that's terrific," he said. "We were pushed back from Tobruk to the El Alamein position in a fortnight, I believe—it happened before I arrived—but when our push started we sent him back in one week, twice as fast.

"If anyone deserves the blitzkrieg title we do on that performance," the general said British casualties in the big push had been 13,600. The Germans and Italians on the other hand, lost more than 30,000 in captured alone and scores more are being picked up daily, he said.

75,000 Axis Casualties "The best opinion of my experts" places the total axis losses, killed, wounded and captured at 75,000, Alexander asserted.

Returning to the question of tanks, the general said that Rommel "may have got in some more via Bengasi" while some in repair shops in the rear area might have been made useable, "so it is very difficult to say exactly how many tanks he has at present."

Alexander said that the enemy apparently was moving westward through Libya by the coastal road instead of the shortcut across the desert below Bengasi because not much of his equipment is "desert-worthy."

The advance to within 70 miles of Bengasi placed the Eighth Army 80 miles farther along Rommel's trail than had been reported the previous day.

As the ground troops approached Bengasi, bombers attacked the city and port from a low level and barges in the harbor were set afire, the communique said.

Six axis transport planes were shot down by allied fighters and at least six others were destroyed on the ground in the Bengasi area, the communique said. No allied fighters were reported lost in these operations.

Order To Register 'Teen-Ags'

Permit Late Registrations Late registration will be permitted for those unable to present themselves during the stated periods because of circumstances beyond their control.

Staff Sergeant John T. De John of Ansley, Ala., was banging away at the enemy from his tail gunner's position when a German fighter put a 20-millimeter cannon shell "right in his lap," spraying steel fragments down his left side and knocking out one of his two guns.

Despite his multiple wounds, the rugged former professional baseball player kept on firing his lone gun for another ten minutes and was credited with one plane shot down.

When De John finally admitted that he was wounded, Riordan sent the navigator, Second Lieutenant George J. Spellman of Holyoke, Mass., back to help. The young officer dragged the wounded gunner into the radio room, covered him with his own flying coat and then, coatless and gloveless fought with the tail gun in 20-below cold until his hands were blue and almost frozen.

"But you should have seen that gun barrel," said the co-pilot, Lieutenant Edward P. Malisewski of Grosse Pointe, Mich. "It got so hot it bent."

Changed Ammunition Belts

As the running fight went on, a cannon shell blew a hole "as big as a cabbage" in the fuselage right beside the waist gunner, Staff Sergeant Anthony L. Santoro of Houston, Tex., and bullets cut his ammunition belt but he changed to a new one just in time to knock down one of the fighters.

All the time Riordan was nursing the fortress toward the chalk cliffs of England and after 25 minutes the Nazis gave up and veered off as they saw Spitfires coming out to shepherd the wounded ship home. The pilot set her down with hardly a bump.

Although she was holed from props to tail by machine gun and cannon fire, De John was the only one of the crew injured.

In addition to De John and Santoro, the certain victories were credited to the top turret gunner, Staff Sgt. Raleigh W. Holloway of Fredericksburg, Va., and the lower turret gunner, Staff Sgt. John T. Owens, Roanoke, Va.

Four other probable victories were scored by the crew, which also included bombardier Gerald D. Rotter of Commerce, Okla.

King George VI was among those who later saw the shell-pocked fortress and marveled that it had come back.

Want Views On Poll Tax Known

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—(P)—Opponents of a bill to abolish state poll taxes as a voting qualification decided at an informal caucus today to get their views before the country in a formal speech in the senate by one of their number as soon as possible.

Senator Connally (D-Tex.) said that as soon as parliamentary maneuvering could be dispensed with, the southern opponents of the measure wanted to make their views clear to offset charges that they were carrying on a petty filibuster.

"Some fundamental issues are involved in this fight," Connally told reporters. "If the country knew what they were, I think we would be supported in our stand."

The southerners, using every parliamentary device, have prevented for five legislative sessions consideration of a motion by Democratic Leader Barkley of Kentucky to take up the controversial bill.

Detectives Are Indicted

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 18.—(P)—Three St. Louis detectives were indicted on charges of manslaughter by a grand jury which investigated the death of Edward Melendes, a Mexican national.

The three—Walter G. Bauer, Edward Rung and Rino Mittino—were released today on bonds of $5,000 after their arrest. Suspended at the direction of Assistant Chief of Police Andrew T. Aylward they turned in their badges and police revolvers.

The indictments were returned about 11 p. m. last night by the second jury to investigate charges of alleged police brutality to prisoners. The first refused to vote indictments and was discharged by Circuit Judge Harry F. Russell.

Melendes, arrested last July 25 for questioning about a robbery, died in jail two days later. His death was first attributed to a kidney ailment. Later an autopsy showed he had been beaten. The police department said Melendes was beaten before, not after, his arrest.

The indicted detectives had no statement to make. While the charges are pending they will be free to seek other employment.

May Ration Dairy Products

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—(P)—Secretary of Agriculture Wickard has told the War Production Board's foods requirements committee that dairymen can not possibly supply next year's demands and that as a consequence the government should take immediate steps to limit consumption of some dairy products.

Sources which could not be quoted by name said today that Mr. Wickard, who is chairman of the WPB foods committee, felt that cheese should be placed under ration along with meat, that the production of ice cream should be reduced at least 25 per cent below this year's level, and that consumer rationing of fluid milk should be established in milksheds facing short supplies.

Meat is scheduled to be placed under rationing shortly after the first of the year. Distribution among retailers is being limited now, and the public is urged not to buy more than the equivalent of two and a half pounds a week per adult person.

The secretary was said also to have recommended that distribution of butter and evaporated milk be limited until rationing plans for these products can be studied and developed for establishment before the winter is over.

Interne High Personages Reuters reported that Morocco broadcast said Lieut. Gen. Mark W. Clark had announced the internment of some high Algerian personages on evidence that they were impeding the allied effort in north Africa.

Clark was said to have declared that the allied purpose of "expulsion of the axis from north Africa and its pursuit on the continent of Europe requires an immense massing of men and material in north Africa."

Eleventh-hour axis efforts to save at least a slice of north Africa were reflected in reports of the massing of German and Italian submarines and warplanes in probable prelude to huge scale sea and air battles.

British sources estimated that 1,000 axis planes had been rushed to Sicily, Sardinia, southern Italy and Crete. Other sources, predicting important naval operations in the Mediterranean, said the axis was known to be operating at least 50 submarines there. Allied losses, however, were described as remarkably few and all but one of the allied convoy and supply ships which were hit were said to have landed their troops and equipment before being damaged.

Listlessness On Stock Market

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—(AP)—Selective recovery tendencies appeared in today's stock market but some of the industrial leaders extended the previous day's decline by fractions.

The list again gave a better response to good news—the declaration of the usual quarterly dividend of $2.25 a share on American Telephone.

The financial sector had counted a cut in the disbursement as a possibility, and while telephone itself advanced on the announcement around midday, the general list remained unmoved.

While failure of the main body of pivotal issues to follow telephone worked against buying interest the market held a good sprinkle of modest plus signs in the final hour, with principal contributions by the steels, motors, coppers and aircrafts. Rails were irregular and chemical and heavy industry shares a bit backward.

Dealings fell off after activity at the opening. Total for the five hours was about 500,000 shares.

Drums Convey
War Messages
In The JunglesCountry Vibrates
With News Of
Allied Victories

(Editor's Note: Dewitt Mackenzie resumes today, from Cairo, his daily interpretative column, "The War Today." For the past 11 days he has been en route from England, a trip complicated by the allied campaign in North Africa. He was in Lisbon when the occupation of French North Africa started and was stranded five days in West Africa awaiting plane transportation to Cairo.)

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE

CAIRO, Nov. 18 — From the Mediterranean sea down to the steaming equator, Africa's huge bulk is vibrating today with news of the great allied victories along its broad northern shores.

There in the hinterland we find men from many allied nations responding with feverish energy in an effort to back up their colleagues on the battlefield.

There are Yankee boys there from all parts of Uncle Sam's wide acres. And you have to experience the hardships of primitive Africa to understand what a glorious heritage we are defending in smiling America.

The picture at left was taken in Russia when Anna Barkowicz was 19. At right is the same girl (really!) completely Americanized, even to pop and hot dog, except for the gay costume that she brought from Russia, and which is as good for festive occasions in the U.S.A. as it was in the U.S.S.R.

There are British and French soldiers and others of our allies, all working in fine unison.

With them, laboring on the edge of jungles and across blazing deserts, is a countless multitude of willing natives. These happy-dispositioned folk know little about the issues involved in the war, but they do understand that an axis victory means bondage.

Daring Jungle Diseases

And what are these soldier and civilian workers contributing to the case? I wish I could tell you in detail, but that would give the boche useful information. Broadly, one can say these allied men are daring diseases of the jungle, enduring terrible heat and other hardships to open up and maintain transport routes over which pour men and supplies for the allies' needs throughout northern Africa and the middle east.

Opening Air Transports

During the 11 days it took me to reach Cairo from England by devious routes, I covered some 8,000 miles, mainly by air. Since I had already flown the Atlantic to reach Britain, it needs small imagination to see that if this war does nothing else, it is opening up the world to air transport.

I was in Lisbon the day Uncle Sam made his sensational landing on northern Africa. The medley of peoples who go to make up the Portuguese capital's population these days—a weird mixture of allied and axis nationals who mingle in this neutral port—seethed with excitement.

There was little news beyond word that a big operation was under way, but the fact that the allies had assumed the offensive in a new quarter was in itself a momentous development. It was tough to fly away from Lisbon without knowing the outcome of the first day's events, but we had the satisfaction of knowing the signs were propitious.

Avoided Dakar

Our great air liner circled wide to avoid operations as we headed southward for west Africa and we gave Dakar a wide berth because more than one passenger plane has been fired on from this strategic region.

When we drove the nose of our ship into the heat of equatorial Africa the next day, word of the offensive already had arrived. American soldiers and civilians in this particular port were exuberant.

Most astonishing, however, was the fact that the denizens of the surrounding jungles not only knew of the attack but that they got the news from their own sources. It seems fanciful as I write it, but the story of the operation on the far-away northern shore had been flashed southward by drums just as messages have been transmitted for hundreds of years.

Drums Can Talk

Believe me, those drums can talk and I mean that almost literally. Drummers who begin training as tiny boys spend a lifetime at it, and are able to impart meaning by tone as well as by a dot-dash system. I've been in the jungle when one of these drums started to talk through the stillness of night and it's an eerie, hypnotic sound which lingers in memory.

In connection with these messages, there is an interesting demonstration of the penetration and effectiveness of propaganda. Axis agents to the north had spread word the Germans were victorious and were advancing southward in Africa. At one place where I was stopping, hundreds of native laborers deserted their jobs and fled to the far jungles in terror. This undoubtedly was the result the enemy hoped to produce with the idea of hampering allied transport and other operations.

As I proceeded eastward across Africa, a French military pilot and his crew who had fled from an airbase east of Dakar landed their ship at a field where I was stopping and reported to American authorities. The plane was filled with maps and documents useful to the allies.

Believe Germans Are Trapped

The pilot, who was a captain in the French air force, continued on my transport to another headquarters where he conferred with high American officers.

The French captain finally came to where I was sitting in the transport and asked if I had a map of northern Africa. When I produced one, he showed me the line of his flight from back of Dakar, and then pointing to various fronts where reverses are besetting the boche, he held out his hands like the jaws of a trap and exclaimed exultantly:

"We've got the Germans caught like that," and he brushed his hands together. That also seems to be the prevailing opinion in this vital war zone.

Phil A. Bennett

Our Congressman
Says—

First I want to express a word of appreciation to the people of the Sixth District, who, after two years of study of my record as their representative in congress, returned me to office with a larger vote of confidence than ever before. I am deeply grateful that the people have shown their appreciation of the fact that I have worked hard in their behalf and that they have disregarded the partisan slanders of those who sought to misrepresent my record and picture me as a villain. Distaste for such abuse, always heaped on any who try to accomplish something, keeps many good men from seeking public office. The great victory makes me feel very humble — and I shall do my very best to remain a congressman for all the people, regardless of their politics or station in life.

As expected, the supreme court, in a decision written by Justice Robert Jackson, has upheld the constitutionality of the 49c wheat penalty. The court indulged in some very interesting reasoning to get around the retroactive feature under which the penalty, passed May 26, 1941, was made to apply to wheat planted in the fall of 1940. The court said: "The penalty is incurred and becomes due on threshing. Thus, the penalty was on an act the farmer committed not before but after the passage of the law, and had he chosen to cut his excess wheat and cure it or feed it as hay, or reap and feed it with the head and straw together, no penalty would have been demanded. Only when he threshed and thus made it part of the bulk of wheat

Smelly Cigars?

Hollywood—Desmond Slattery is looking for his pet skunk, Alexander O'Schick-legrubner. The "O" is short for Obnoxious.

Slattery obtained him in Natal, Brazil.

"I asked for a box of cigars in what I thought was Portuguese," he explains, "and they brought out Alex."

overhanging the market did he become subject to penalty."

Farm labor. For many months now some of us have been pointing out that, unless policy was changed, there would be a farm labor shortage and general food rationing. Now it appears that most farm workers have been drafted or have gone to work in war factories for higher wages. Congress passed a bill last week deferring from military service such farm workers as are left, upon a showing that they are making an important contribution to agriculture. This gives congressional approval to an order issued October 26, 1942, by the manpower commission, embodied in local board release 157, sent to all selective service boards, and requiring reclassification of farm workers. In brief, here is how the plan is supposed to work. Local boards are now required to reclassify all registrants who are farm workers or operators engaged on a year round basis devoting substantially full time services to care of dairy cows, livestock and poultry or their products. The army and navy have agreed not to recruit or accept for enlistment any man who fails to present a certificate from the local board that he is not an essential farm worker. The local boards are given wide discretion in determining whether or not a farm worker or operator is "essential." If he is not regarded as so essential as to justify his permanent reclassification, the board is supposed to refer the farmer to the United States employment service or the county war board for placement on an essential dairy, livestock or poultry farm, until such time as he is needed in the army or a satisfactory replacement of his services can be obtained. If the individual leaves his farm job without permission of his board, he is at once subject to military duty. Selective Service boards have had this power all along, but in the absence of a uniform national policy, have generally rejected county war board recommendations as to deferments. This only added to occupational deferment. Now there should be no such feeling. This is all a step in the right direction, but there is a serious question in my mind as to whether it will be a big enough step, coming as late as it has.

Cotton Bowl
Bid May Go
To MissouriGeorgia, Georgia Tech
Alabama, Tennessee
Are Being Discussed

DALLAS, Nov. 18.—(AP)—Georgia, Georgia Tech, Alabama, Tennessee and Missouri are considered the teams most likely to receive bids from the Cotton Bowl as plans go forward for staging the Dallas gridiron classic Jan. 1. James Stewart, executive secretary, has ordered tickets printed, and officials will meet soon to extend preliminary feelers to teams deemed most noteworthy.

Putting Out Feelers

The game will pit the southwest conference champion against an opponent to be selected — indications are the bowl officials are leaning definitely toward the southeast and Big Six.

Also there is considerable agitation for Tulsa to be invited and there is some talk about Hardin-Simmons.

But while nothing definite has been done, reportedly there has been some missionary work done toward Alabama which played in the bowl last year and this season has lost only to Georgia and Georgia Tech, the No. 1 and No. 2 teams of the nation; Missouri, which has a good record in the Big Six, Tennessee and of course the two Georgias.

Just who will represent the southwest is a moot question. Right now three teams are virtually tied for the lead and it may be Thanksgiving day before a champion can be determined. Under a southwest conference rule the winner is automatically invited to be host team in the bowl.

Durocher Has Met His Match

Manager Of Dodgers
To Be Announced On Thursday By Rickey

By Austin Bealmear

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—(AP)—It won't be long now until Leo Durocher, the rest of the baseball world, will know whether the manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers next season is to be Leo Durocher.

In fact, at exactly 2 p. m. tomorrow, Branch Rickey, the new Dodger president, will have a definite answer for Durocher and a few thousand anxious Flatbush fans, as well as anyone else who might be interested.

Huddle Eight Hours

Branch, The Brain, and Leo, The Lip, huddled for something like eight hours yesterday and worked out a number of problems, but the actual managerial assistant wasn't one of them.

Durocher, finding himself matched, if not over-matched, in the art of conversation, had little to say when the conference ended, but Rickey promised he would come to a decision tomorrow.

Perhaps the most significant development to come out of yesterday's confab was an indication that Durocher might be asked to return to the active player list.

"I used to think he was a corking good shortstop," Rickey said in discussing the conference later, "and in my judgment he still is a good player, if he would only think so. That could be a part of the question before us."

"If I Have To — I Can"

Durocher, now 37, did not play at all last year — his fourth as Dodger skipper — and not much the year before. But questioned later, he declared: "Sure, I can play — if I have to."

Rickey admitted that one of the points under discussion was Leo's personality and his method of handling the sometimes rowdy Dodgers.

"I know Durocher," Rickey declared, "and that goes double. He knows me," the president continued.

"I don't want to start with a manager and have things come up later that we will have to squabble over. I want to adjust everything before we start."

Bob Johnson To Leave Athletics

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 18.—(AP)—Connie Mack and Big Bob Johnson, the Philadelphia Athletics' hard slugging Indian outfielder, came to a peaceful parting of the ways today after ten long, and sometimes hard, years.

Connie announced that the pride of the A's will be traded at the Chicago major league meeting opening December 1, if a suitable deal can be arranged, and added: "He deserves a chance to play on a pennant contender."

Johnson, who will be 34 years old Nov. 28, joined the Athletics in 1933 after four years with the Portland club in the Pacific Coast league. He lined out 44 two-base hits, four triples and 21 homers for a .290 average during his first major league season. The next season he hit .307 and stayed slightly above or below that charmed mark for years.

Jimmy Dykes tried to hire him last spring, when he was a hold out, but the White Sox had no success. The Indian played for Mack last season on a bonus contract based on attendance, and was openly disgruntled when he collected only one bonus.

Deferments Off Federal Workers

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—(AP)—President Roosevelt asked all federal government departments and agencies Tuesday to cancel any military deferment that had been given government employees.

Here is the text of his memorandum: "I am most anxious to make sure that no man should be deferred from military service by reason of his employment in any federal department or agency either in Washington or in any other place.

"If any such deferment has been given to anyone within your respective jurisdiction, would you please arrange for cancellation thereof as soon as possible and notify the selective board having jurisdiction?"

"No further requests for deferment by reason of such employment should be made either by the agency or by the employee.

"I am sure that in the overwhelming number of cases this action will be welcomed by the young men themselves who are involved."

"I know that in certain technical or highly scientific or specialized branches of the service there are a few employees who, by reason of unique experience, are really irreplaceable by women or older men. If there are any which in your opinion fall within this category, will you please write me the full details of them so that their cases may be passed on individually."

Food Goals Are Soon To Be Announced

War Demands Increased Through Second Front

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—(AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Wickard reported Tuesday that 1943 overall food-for-war production goals would be announced "in a few days," and disclosed that preliminary arrangements had been made for discussing the program with the nation's farmers in the near future.

He wrote Chairman Fulmer (D-S. C.) of the house agriculture committee that the department had made arrangements for four regional meetings, starting Nov. 30, which would be followed by state and county conferences to explain details of the program.

"We know," the secretary wrote, "how important it is for farmers to have as much advance notice as possible of the kinds and amounts of farm products that will be needed next year to provide for our military forces, our civilian population and our lend lease operations."

But he added, the plans must be based upon the constantly changing situation here and abroad, and said "for example, the opening of the 'second front' in Africa will increase the demands on us for food, as it is of paramount importance to our war effort that populations of reoccupied countries be fed."

(In New York last night, Wickard said that "it is a political necessity that starvation disappear in any country we occupy. We must make sure that reoccupation by our forces will be accompanied by a swift and well-planned importation of food, seed and essential supplies.")

Farmers 'Folding Up'
His letter followed one from Fulmer, saying that "many farmers are now folding up because they are unable to get any information as to just what they may expect."

The four regional meetings will be held as follows:
Denver, November 30 to December 2—for Oregon, Washington, California, Nevada, Idaho, Utah, Montana, Colorado, Wyoming, Arizona, New Mexico, North Dakota, and Kansas.

Chicago, December 3 to 5 for Minnesota, Iowa, South Dakota, Missouri, Nebraska, Illinois, Wisconsin, Michigan, Indiana, and Ohio.

Memphis, December 7-9 for Texas, Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma, Alabama, Mississippi, Tennessee, Kentucky, Virginia, West Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia and Florida.

New York, December 14-16 for Maryland, Delaware, Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey and the six New England States.

The meetings will be attended by Secretary of Agriculture Wickard, assistant Secretary Hill and other department officials as well as by regional representatives of various department agencies and members of state farm war boards.

Revival Services Conclude Sunday

The revival meeting in progress at the Calvary Baptist church, will conclude on Sunday. There will be baptismal services Sunday afternoon. Rev. L. F. Admire, pastor of the First Baptist church, Wellsville, Mo., used as his subject Tuesday evening, "The Adversary." This evening his subject will be, "Jesus, Lord and Savior." His sermon subjects for the remainder of the meeting will be: Thursday evening, "Hell and Who Goes There"; Friday, "Three Crosses"; Saturday, "The Holy Spirit and His Work"; Sunday morning, "The Hospitality of Heaven." Sunday evening, "Choices of Life."

WE'LL REMEMBER THIS CHRISTMAS!

War-time Christmases live in the memory long after the happy, care-free ones are forgotten. For the shadow that war casts over every home, is intensified at this season. There must be giving... generous giving, but no gift should be extravagant. For the Gift of Gifts, for all of us, is the Victory we are working for... and to achieve it, we're going to have to buy lots of War Bonds, however much we must sacrifice to buy them!
